STRUCTURAL STEEL FABRICATION: THE IN-HOUSE EXPERIENCE

WHAT DOES OUR DESIGN AND FABRICATION PROCESS LOOK LIKE?

It starts with your vision. With your intended build in mind, we take the time to work out what the perfect structural steel project looks like for your business.

After you approve your free initial plan, we fill out the details with you at every step of the process alongside our in-house design, fabrication, and project management teams. A detailed quote, milestone check-ins, and consistent communication keep everything on track.

With our on-site sandblasting and painting capabilities and a versatile, knowledgeable team of welders and steel fitters, your project is fully managed by our hands—not a sub-contractor's.

After your fabrication is completed, we can either install the structure ourselves or transport it to your site, ensuring the final steps are as measured as the first.

Want a detailed walkthrough every step of the way?

We can do that. Your success is our mission, and with a dedicated and personable management team close at hand, we ensure you are never in the dark about where your investment is at.

THE FLYNN BROS. ADVANTAGE

OUR RELATIONSHIPS ARE BUILT TO FIT.

Manufacturing takes more than paper and plans—the people have to fit right. Starting with the wrong strategy can often bring about complicated hand-offs, costly delays, and gaps in communication.

The solutions delivered by our structural steel manufacturing team at Flynn Bros. Projects result in faster, more cost-effective growth—period.

Just like you, this is our hand-built business—not a factory. From design to build, we're about your business, and our method keeps you in the driver's seat.
